

First of all everything and anything

we do @Collective1992

is personal is intimate

taking in individual considerations for global concerns

(which is not to be confused with consensus).

What are we reaching for?

Ideas that can or cannot be rooted in eventual realisation

(even if the 'cannot' is in itself a realisation – let's say for now or forever).

You are here because you press through all types of realizations and all types of realities.

You have done much in your own practice on whatever scale has been afforded you.

Now that being said,

we are not on scale, we are beyond it.

Beyond expectation, beyond demand or constraint

...that is the voice of Collective 1992.

We answer to no one except each other.

We understand limitation but we are not blocked by inhibition.

We apprehend choice and fill gaps.

We strive to know

what can be done

and in the process make all.

1992